Webinar Proposal

An Introduction to American Colleges, Universities, and Applications: A Webinar for Foreign National Parents and Students

American post-secondary education differs drastically from its counterparts elsewhere around the world. In the first half of this webinar, college application coach and President of Crimson Coaching™, Dr. P. (Dominique Padurano, Ph.D.) describes the United States' varied system of colleges and universities, as well as the general application process. During the second half of the webinar, Dr. P. counsels students and parents on what to do during each year of high school in order to best prepare themselves for the application process during senior year.

Dr. P.'s Bio

A magna cum laude graduate of Harvard College, former student at France's prestigious Sciences-Po (Institut d'Études Politiques), and speaker of four languages, Dr. P.'s own international experience is profound. As a college counselor, she's helped students from Europe and the Middle East gain admissions to Harvard, Princeton, and other top U.S. colleges.
